BASE BALL

COMPOSITE SCORES

Of Last Week's Series With Fairmont and Clarksburg Is Given Here—With and Is Interesting.

The appended composite box scores of the Fairmont and Clarksburg series last week may prove interesting to the fans. It not entirely creditable to the ball team. Hart led the team in the number of hits and bases stolen, eight of the former and two of the latter. The errors, Hart and Ansberry take the palm. Hart was the best run getter, having seven to his credit.

Connellsville out-hit both opposing teams in the series, but this was due to two unprecedented batting streaks. In errors, the locals were far behind, having 13 to Fairmont's 5, and 11 to Clarksburg's 0. The six games were remarkably free from sacrifice hits. This appears as though the locals lost their knowledge of the "inside" game, for Wagner and Parsons were the only two who succeeded.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Brief Diamond Paragraphs of Interest Local and Otherwise.

Lou Willig, who started the season with Uniontown, has fulfilled our prediction and failed to make good. Willig went from Uniontown, warned the bench there, and is now with Clarick.

That boy McIntyre, who cavorts around short field on Elmer Essler's Clarksburg team, is some hitter. His swats at the ball have been scoring runs for the Essler contingent.

Tats on is playing a great game in middle for Scottdale. He had a home run in Sunday's game at Clarksburg. Butler fans haven't lost heart because their team is out of first place. The Butlerites are working nice under the lead of Manager-Captain Jacobson.

Greensburg is still on the slide. At the rate Clarksburg and Scottdale are playing no team has a sure hold on any position.

Manager Tom Dillon has been away from the team for several days. It was necessary for him to go to Philadelphia about his eyes. Cumberland is having a streak of bad luck.

Scottdale will undoubtedly protest that forfeited game at Clarksburg. Umpire Tom Hulme got gold feet and changed his decision. With a runner on first and third and one out, the pitcher delivered the ball to the batsman, who knocked up a fly ball to first. Welf got the ball and completed a double play, retiring the side. The score was 3 to 3 in favor of Scottdale and it was the ninth inning. At

What the Triangle A Has Done

The "Triangle A" has increased the dealer's trade by enabling him to give his patrons the greatest cigar values on earth.

The "Triangle A" has increased the value of the smoker's cigar money by giving him the highest possible quality in every grade of "Triangle A" cigars.

Everybody concerned reaps the benefit of the "Triangle A" idea—the dealer and you. BOTH. The dealer secures your confidence—and that's how he keeps your business.

Whenever and wherever you buy, whatever you pay for your cigars, you are entitled to the best it is possible to produce for the price.

The "Triangle A" on the box is the only assurance you have that you are getting this 100% of quality.

Don't Trust to Luck!

See that the cigar box is stamped with the "Triangle A" merit mark every time—you'll get a smoke worth double what you get before the introduction of "Triangle A" methods. Look for the mark that insures quality.

The New CREMO

Is the most satisfactory kind of proof but you are safe in buying any brand bearing the "A" (Triangle A) on the box. Every box is extra-wrapped in glassine paper, sealed at each end with the "Triangle A" in red, to maintain perfect smoking condition and cleanliness until the box is opened.

AMERICAN CIGAR COMPANY
Manufacturer

For Scottdale left the field. Huling charged his decision and declared the game forfeited. Huling says he had to do this or get mobbed. Either Clarksburg is a bad town or Huling a rotten umpire.

Fairmont has easy sailing now for a day or two. Cumberland is having a stretch of games with the former leaders. Wait until the Coasters stick up against something hard.

Clarksburg has a bunch of heavy hitters. Least among these is not Captain Essler.

Beaver Falls is playing a pretty game under direction of Captain Pfeiffer. The Beavers are dangerous at all times.

And just think! Greensburg was giving the leaders a hard run for their money two weeks ago.

Look out for the Typos in the City League. They are going to fool some of the wise ones once they get started.

Umpire Hanley, who left the league because there was too much jumping around, was the best indicator official in the circuit.

For the first time this season Connellsville will get a chance this week to watch Greensburg play. The Red Sox are due here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Beaver Falls has secured Pitcher Jack Fitzgerald and Infielder Danny Davis from Akron of the O. & P. Swensen hasn't worked a day behind the bat for East Liverpool. His arm is in bad shape.

HOODOO STILL WORKING.

Connellsville Lost to Butler Yesterday Nine to Two.

The Butler offdoo is still working. Connellsville dropped another game to the Butlerites yesterday by a score of 9 to 2. Tims and Jones, the latter a new man, did the twisting. Each team had nine hits. Francis with the "e" and Parsons and Birmingham with "a" each, lead Connellsville in hitting. The holding of Connellsville was poor. Butler hit timely while Connellsville's swats did not count. The Soap Miners scored five runs in the second inning and then Jones relieved Tims. Butler stole five bases on Moran.

The same teams play again today. Morrison, a new pitcher, will likely be on the rubber for Connellsville.

SCOTSDALE GETS GAME.

President Power Reverses Umpire Huling's Decision at Clarksburg.

President Power of the West Penn League has awarded Sunday's game between Scottdale and Clarksburg to Scottdale. Umpire Huling has given as his reason for forfeiting the game to Clarksburg that the hostile actions of the crowd made it necessary, although the game was legally won by Scottdale.

Howard Brydon, who was visiting Guy K. Schrock here for several days, has returned to Baltimore, where he is employed in a bank.

Miss Eleanor Colborn, a student at the Wilson College, Chambersburg, is at the home of her parents, Attorney and Mrs. Louis C. Colborn, for the summer vacation.

On Friday evening the regular meeting of the Somerset Poultry & Pet Stock Association was held in the basement of the court house. The routine business was transacted.

Frank H. Chorpennina, a well known business man of Camden, N. J., is in Somerset, where he formerly resided.

Mrs. Robert Roberts of Patriot street has contracted diphtheria and is confined to her bed. Reports state that she is resting easy.

Ernest V. Cook, a mechanical engineer employed by a large manufacturing concern of Milwaukee, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas M. Cook, of Patriot street.

Samuel Meyers and daughter, Miss Catherine, of Salisbury, are the guests of Mrs. Bertha Cunningham of West Main street.

C. W. Allen of Connelville, General Passenger Agent of the B. & O., was in Somerset Saturday on a business errand.

Joe Walter of West Main street has returned from Johnstown, where he has been visiting friends for some time.

James C. Begley, managing editor of the Berlin Gleaner, was in Somerset Sunday renewing old acquaintances.

William Baer, a compositor on the Berlin Gleaner, was in Somerset Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

W. F. Hurlock, a well known Johnstown contractor, came to Somerset Sunday in his auto, remaining a short time.

L. H. Allen of Buffalo, N. Y., General Manager of the Passenger Department of the Pittsburgh, Westmoreland & Somerset railroad, was in town Saturday in connection with his official duties.

Among the out of town people who came to Somerset on Sunday were J. C. Zang, Frank Philip, M. R. Swank, A. M. Swank and Albert Swank, all well known residents of Johnstown.

Francis Dunn, the national organizer of a miners' union, has been at McDonaughton, the scene of a coal strike, for some days. On Saturday he and Phil A. Shaver, the Superintendent of the McDonaughton mines of the W. K. Niver Coal Company, had a conversation which continued for nearly four hours, but nothing resulted, apparently. A posse of four deputies have been placed at the scene of the trouble. The deputies are James W. Solbert, Joseph R. Joy, Hugh W. Dennison and G. N. Schickel. Two arrests have been made, Peter Melorick and John Contra being charged with malicious mischief. They were committed to jail by Justice Robert Heffley of Berlyn. The men are miners at McDonaughton and it is alleged, that they damaged the school house in their efforts to show that they were not afraid of anyone.

Tomorrow the argument of the case of the Meyersdale & Salisbury Street Railway Company versus the Pennsylvania & Maryland Street Railway Company will be commenced. The testimony in the case has been heard and it seems that a conclusion is near at hand. Unless an appeal to a higher court is taken Judge Kwosey's decision in this case will terminate the existence of one company or the other. The contest is to determine the title to certain rights of way in Elk Lick township to which both companies lay claim. It is the prime purpose of the company which was the present suit to construct a trolley line between Meyersdale and Salisbury and then to establish interurban connection between other towns in the county, finally uniting with lines in Westmoreland, Fayette, Cambria and Bedford counties as well as with Maryland lines.

Another murder has been added to the catalogue of crimes committed in Somerset county. Harry Jones having been arrested for the shooting of John Spivox at Jerome two weeks ago on information of Annie Spivox, wife of deceased. Jones was at large for nearly two weeks before being arrested for the crime. The facts in the case, according to Jones, are that as he and his wife and child were walking along the streets of their native town the dead man came up to them and produced a large horse pistol which he sighted toward the Jones family. Spivox also made other demonstrations and Jones not willing to take any chances, "pistolled the foreigner in self defense."

At the memorial service held by the Knights of Pythias from a number of towns in Somerset and adjoining counties there were nearly 300 in attendance. The services were held in the local theatre at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in memory of the late Judge Daniel J. Horner. The services were under the auspices of Pioneer Lodge No. 471 of Meyersdale, of which deceased was a member. J. E. Ellert, a member of Pioneer Lodge, presided at these services, and Rev. E. B. Collins of Meyersdale, delivered the memorial address. At 2 o'clock the visitors and also the members of the local lodge assembled in the lodge rooms and then marched to the theatre in a body, arriving there at 2:30.

The exercises were then held, a large audience filling the seats of the theatre, and the Knights then marched in a body to the Union Cemetery, where the grave of the deceased was strewn with flowers, after which ceremony the Knights marched en masse to the hall of the local lodge. Of the 300 Knights in attendance there were about 150 in uniform. All the lodges in Somerset county attended these memorial services in their entirety. They are as follows: Pioneer Lodge No. 471, Meyersdale; Highland Lodge No. 15, Somerset; Unique Lodge No. 2, Rockwood; Star Lodge No. 408, Salisbury; Addison Lodge No. 300, Addison; Berlin Lodge No. 503 and Garrison Lodge No. 69. ### CONFLUENCE.

Interesting Items From Somerset County's Hustling Town.

CONFLUENCE, June 10.—The School Board met in the Directors' room of the First National Bank on Saturday evening and had a rather interesting meeting. Charles Shaw, who was appointed to fill a vacancy, was sworn into office and the Board at once started to work. A number of the advanced reforms have been over-crowded and there was a movement on foot to regrade the schools and add additional room, but this was voted down after a rather warm discussion. The Directors seem to be opposed to improving the schools, as the term is only a seven month term. It is the only board in Somerset county that has such a short time. The members, who are trying to do their duty to the town are held in check. The question of millage was then taken up and they had a lively time on this question. The tax levy was finally fixed at 32 mills. The extra half mill is to pay the debt that Confluence now owes and which they have been paying interest on for the last three years. The Board finally adjourned to meet at call of the President.

Children's Day services were held in the Lutheran Church Sunday evening and a very large crowd was in attendance. A very nice program was rendered, consisting of exercises, recitations, solos, quartet and choruses. A collection was taken for the Louisville Orphan's Home, which was a very neat sum. Rev. G. W. Stonacker, although here but a short time, has been working hard and his efforts are showing their effect. The children who took part deserve much praise for their extra good work.

The Old Folgers' Memorial service will be held in the M. E. Church on Wednesday evening at 7:30 P. M. Rev. Thomas Charlesworth will preach the sermon and the male quartet will furnish the special music. The members of the I. O. O. F. are requested to meet in their hall at 7:15 with their memorial badges.

Bronchial troubles are purely local. They cannot be helped by stomachics. They are caused by irritation in the air passages and can be relieved and cured by Hyomei all alone. In this lies the secret of the great success of Hyomei in the treatment of bronchial troubles.

The first breath of Hyomei's medicated air soothes the inflammation, stops the cough, and relieves soon being permanent and a cure results. TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 11, 1907.

DIGNITY AND DECORUM
IN THE TOWN COUNCIL.

The proceedings of the Town Council are sadly lacking in that dignity and decorum which should prevail in all public bodies, but parliamentary manners and parliamentary practices have not been very much in evidence in Connellsville's municipal legislature for a good many years past, and the example of Democratic simplicity has been too faithfully followed by Republican and Fusion administrations. There is much room for reform in this matter and we respectfully suggest that earnest efforts be put forth in this direction, to the end that the self-respect of the members be not torn to tatters at every meeting, nor the reputation of the borough's deliberative body be held up to public scorn. The proceedings should be peaceful and parliamentary, and the actions of the members should be dictated by public spirit and common sense, not by personal interest or factional feeling. The election is over. The Town Council should get down to business, leaving politics and hoodlums behind.

The right of individual members of Council to make purchases in behalf of the borough was wisely and reasonably regulated by resolution. There is lawfully no warrant for any individual member to contract debts and bind the borough. In doing so without the authority of the Town Council, such member runs the risk of personal liability and the creditor takes chances of a bad account. On the whole, it is a loose method of doing business; but, like the parliamentary practice referred to, it is a precedent handed down by various Democratic reform administrations. It is refreshing and instructive to note that some of the movements toward correcting these evil customs come from those who have headed them down. This teaches us that some politicians are better reformers as a minority than they are when they have undisputed sway in the conduct of municipal affairs. The moral is obvious.

The Town Council has much important work before it, and it will look better if the members get down to it seriously instead of coming now and then for each other. Among the urgent things to be done are the re-habilitation of the fire department, the extension of the sewerage system as fast and as far as possible into the newly acquired portions of the borough, the provision of a garbage system, the funding of the borough debt if possible, the codification of the borough ordinances, street and sidewalk paving and many other minor matters. We would much rather compliment the Town Councilmen than criticize them, and we hope we will in the near future have nothing but bouquets for them.

THE DEAD-LOCK IN THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The School Board will have another try at it tonight. There is no good and reasonable reason why the board should dead-lock over the election of its own officers, especially since it has progressed so far as to choose a President. It will not speak well for the spirit of the membership if they fail to organize because of their inability to agree upon the petty spoils of office. We may expect honest differences in the election of teachers. A conscientious discharge of duty will often put a director from voting for an applicant whom he regards as not being properly qualified for the position, but no such considerations enter into the organization.

The School Board is struggling to reform the schools and it ought to exhibit within itself the same spirit it is striving to impress upon the schools.

Connellsville baseball is to be strengthened, we are informed, seems to us that it's strong enough now for all necessary purposes. It's strong enough to make men neglect their business and forget their families and to make the small boy oblivious to everything else under the heavens. Baseball should not be made any stronger. It has the town by the ears now. If it gets any bigger it will tear it out by the roots.

THE LIE PASSED IN COUNCIL.

denied the allegation that he opposed the motion before because the other fellows brought it up. Fire Policeman Thomas Mullin appeared before Town Council and resigned his position. Mullin was on the force but a short time. He was recommended by Councilman Frank Friel. He explained that he had secured a better job in the B. & O. shops.

In the future it will be necessary to take out permits for all buildings and repairs, provided the ordinance to be prepared is passed. This ordinance will require all persons doing repairing or building to take out a permit at the cost of $1. Council can then keep tabs on the kind of improvements that are going up and prevent the erection of frame buildings with in the fire limit, instead of going to the trouble of having them removed after being built.

President Porter again placed the name of J. W. Mitchell before Council for the position of Fire Chief. No action was taken on it. Mitchell is now no nearer being Fire Chief than he was when Council was organized last March. However, President Porter was directed to appoint two volunteer firemen to fill existing vacancies until next Council meeting, when it is promised the entire Fire Department will be overhauled. Frank Friel suggested that the new men should be elected at once, as the Fire Department needs attention.

President Porter reported that he had purchased 150 feet of cement hose from the Revco Rubber Company for use on the fire wagon. J. J. Huston was directed to purchase 100 feet of garden hose for use about City Hall.

Chairman Girard of the Street Committee was directed to take bids for the construction of a sewer on Rice street to the residence of J. S. Marsteller. The matter of a sewer on Patterson avenue and one on Hill street was referred to the Street Committee for a report at the next meeting. Borough Engineer J. J. Hulse is also expected to present himself at the next meeting with a profile of Patterson avenue for the purpose of establishing a grade on that street. Captain Harry Simpson is the only property owner who objects to the lines as run by the engineer. He would have a fill of about six feet on his property.

Robert Scherff is notified that the obstructions he is alleged to have created, partially blocking North alley, must be removed within the next 10 days. James H. Cuddy made the complaint.

Borough Solicitor W. H. Brown reported that the matter of viewers for the opening of Tenth street will come up before the court next Tuesday. Council was due to meet this morning at 9 o'clock to look over the Tenth street grade and determine on some action. Former Borough Engineer Foust says a grade has been established, but it is fully five feet lower than the present level of the street. Damage suits may result if the street is lowered to this level, while a change of grade will only affect the School Board, which has had a concrete wall built down to the grade said to have been established. This matter was to have come before the Street Committee, but Chairman Girard couldn't get the committee together.

"Mr. Porter, there was too busy," he explained.

At the suggestion of Girard, the pay for street laborers was raised from $1.50 to $1.75. Girard says it's hard to get men even at the latter price.

Burgess' objections to the Arch street paving ordinance, a clerical error having been made causing the ordinance to read from Apple street to North alley instead of Peach street to North alley, was filed with a comment and the corrected ordinance passed unanimously.

The request of Michael Hurley for an extension of time for the laying of a pavement in front of his Main street property, on the grounds that he had some extensive improvements to this property under way, didn't meet with favor in Council. Mr. Hurley will be required to go ahead and lay the pavement or the borough will do it at his expense. The clerk was also directed to notify Henry, Charles and William Welke, trustees, about bad pavement in front of the Wyman Hotel.

The petition of persons owning more than two-thirds the foot frontage of North alley between Pittsburg and Water streets, requesting that the alley be paved, was accepted and placed on file.

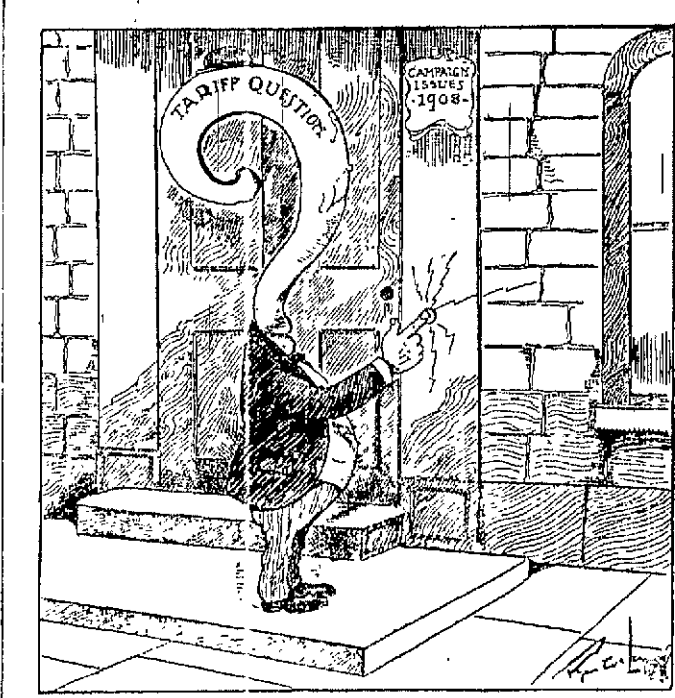

The rent of the fire room in City Hall for election purposes was raised to $8, which will be charged in the future. Council got $2 for the primary. The money was turned in the general fund.

In the matter of the 1904 taxes, Chairman Huston of the Finance Committee reported that the Title & Trust Company informed him that the collection of these taxes had been placed in the hands of Squire Frank Miller.

On motion of Clay Stillwagon all committees are limited to $15 in purchasing supplies without consent of Council, and an order must accompany each bill.

Connellsville, Pa.

THE WEATHER.

Western Pennsylvania—Fair Tuesday, except showers along Lake Erie; Wednesday fair, warmer in north portion; fresh west winds.

Some Old Stories

About the goods we have told you about before, but about goods that are the kind that will stand telling about as often as we have the opportunity. We are anxious to have those of you who do not know this store as your own home store, to first ask your neighbor about the kind of goods we have here and then to pay this store a visit and then judge for yourself as to price and quality.

Stinson Carpets.

We want to advertise these so often that every woman who has a carpet wants to know about them. In all probability there are more Stinson Carpets in use in this vicinity than all other makes put together. Sounds like a pretty large statement does it not? Put a-kiss some of your neighbors. We have been selling this make of carpet ever since this has been a carpet store, and that's a good many years, almost thirty now. Quality is just as good now as it was then and this store stands ready to guarantee anything reasonable about this make of carpet. Velvet $1.25 the yard, and Tapestry $1.40 the yard. These prices mean made, laid and lined.

Room Size Rugs.

Not a many to choose from now as we had earlier in the season. Still many of a kind of a want can be supplied from this stock. Stinson Tapestry Rugs at $25.00. Heavy Brussels Rugs at $35.00. Heavy Brussels Rugs at $27.00 and $10.00. Electric Rugs at $27.00 and $10.00. All 9 by 12 and patterns that you will not find shown elsewhere. If these rugs were not extra values for the money we would not go to the trouble and expense of calling your attention to them here.

Vudor Shades.

Don't forget your porch shades. Summer will come sometime and you'll want porch shades, and if you want the good kind you want the Vudor Shades. Come in 1, 6, 8 and 10 foot widths, all 7 feet 8 inches long and priced at $2.00, $2.75, $3.50 and $5.00. If you want a shade that will last for years and years you want a Vudor Shade.

Children's White and Colored Dresses.

Priced from 50 cents up as high as $5.00 and $10.00. Dresses made as you would have them made. Neatly trimmed with embroidery and lace and made of good material. Investigate these prices and find just how much time you are wasting to buy the material and make them yourself or how much money you are wasting to buy the material and buy some one else to make them. Be your own judge.

Shirt Waist Suits.

Starting from $4.00 and from that on up to $25.00, and we call special attention to the collection of summer dresses for Misses and Women. It is the best collection we ever had to show. Better made, better material and nicer and better trimmed Suits that you would be satisfied to put on and wear on any occasion.

Fresh from the Kelsor shop, the place where the newest and best in these come from. The place where the best styles originate. Most of these priced at 25 and 50 cents and exclusive with this store in this vicinity.

Onyx Hosiery.

Like Stinson Carpets we have handled Onyx Hosiery ever since we have sold stockings. We believe it is the best made. Time has proven this to be so. Call special attention this week to the showing of lace hosiery stockings at 50 cents the pair.

Viscount Aoki Deprecates Prominence Given by American Press to Radical Japanese Propaganda—Immigration Treaty May Be Postponed.

Washington, June 11.—In the matter of the reported development of strength in the radical party in Japan, Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador to this country is understood to take the view that there are no matters of difference between the United States and Japan which are not capable of adjustment if allowed to be considered on their merits. It is said to be his view that leads him to deprecate the publication in this country of the propaganda which is being used in Japan to influence votes in the fall for members of the lower house of the Japanese legislative body.

At the state department it was said that there were no developments in the situation, and, in fact, some surprise was expressed that any should be expected in the near future. The report of District Attorney Devlin of San Francisco upon the mobbing of the Japanese restaurants and baths is expected to reach this city within a day or two, but the conclusions have already been anticipated by telegraphic advices and brief preliminary mail advices, so that all the state department looks for when the report is at hand is a mass of detailed testimony.

Officials Pursue Moderate Course. It is pointed out also, to correct what the officials regard as an erroneous impression, to the effect that the Japanese have made much more of the San Francisco incident than was warranted by the facts, that actually the conduct of the Japanese government in the matter has been extremely modest. It is true that what is regarded as the opposition press in Japan has indulged in some rather extreme language, and has clamored without reason for action by their own government that would surely lead to grave consequences. But as for the Japanese government itself, and in this it is believed to represent the majority of the Japanese people, it is said at the state department that it has pursued precisely such a course as is followed by every self-respecting civilized nation in dealing with cases of attacks upon their citizens in a foreign country.

Notwithstanding the moderate views of the officials of both nations, it is said thousands of dollars are being raised by the Japanese of the Pacific coast to carry out the compact they have entered into with the Progressive party of Japan for the overthrow of the Saiton ministry, the annulment of the exclusion clause in the immigration bill and the guarantee of the naturalization rights of the Japanese subjects residing in this country. The enormous fund which is being collected will be used to arouse a feeling in the Japanese empire antagonistic to the American government.

One result of the extreme newspaper agitation of the friction in San Francisco will, it is believed, be the indefinite postponement of the plan to initiate negotiations during the summer looking to the conclusion of a treaty between America and Japan that should definitely regulate the immigration of Japanese into the United States.

Kuroki Telegraphs Thanks. Washington, June 11.—Gen. Kuroki has telegraphed the navy department thanking the secretary for the courtesies extended him while in this country. The dispatch is dated at Seattle and reads as follows: "His Excellency, the Secretary of the Navy. I have the honor to express my warmest thanks for the great courtesy and kindness you so generously extended while I was in your country. I leave your beautiful soil tomorrow morning with most pleasant memories. (Signed) Gen. Kuroki."

A similar telegram was received from Gen. Kuroki by Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor. Secretary Straus replied as follows:

"Gen. Kuroki, care Japanese Consulate, Seattle, Wash. "Accept my thanks for your telegram and your kind farewell expressions. It was a great pleasure to express our high admiration for your great achievements and to welcome you to our country. Wishing you many years of health and happiness and a pleasant voyage. (Signed) "Oscar S. Straus."

Neck Broken by Fall. Scranton, Pa., June 11.—Patrick Mitchell of Pittston and T. F. McKenna of this city, men employed by the Scranton Electric company, were strapped to the top of a 50-foot pole in North Scranton, when the pole snapped at the base, carrying them to the ground. Mitchell's neck was broken and he died.

Longworths Plan Saddle Trip. Washington, June 11.—Representative Longworth and Mrs. Longworth are planning to go to the Yellowstone park about the 20th inst. to make a two-weeks' trip on horseback through the park and thence will go to the Hawaiian Islands to spend the remainder of the summer.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC ARRAIGNED.

very hard there is work to do and a great deal of it remains undone. Very few, if any, mining operations are run to their full capacity today, yet an examination of the pay rolls would in all probability disclose the fact that more men are carried on the pay rolls than are really necessary for the operation of the mine to its full capacity.

"The mine management is constantly hampered by the observance of numerous holidays that do not appear in the calendars of our land. But as this is, there is still something worse to contemplate and that is the drinking evil. The men not only lose a great deal of time in drinking, but they are often in such a condition from the effects of drinking that it is an impossibility for them to do a day's work."

"This liquor evil is one for which there seems to be no remedy, at least under the present existing laws, and some people are of the opinion that no law can be framed to successfully cope with it. It would seem that there should be some solution to a problem which is causing so much alarm and such serious injury to mining and manufacturing industries generally. For the past three years I have made a practice of taking two or three weeks off from duty and taking a trip into other sections and very naturally pay more or less attention to local matters and conditions generally, and I invariably find that while the liquor evil is to a certain extent in existence, yet I never see any such disgraceful state of affairs as that which is to be seen on every hand daily in the mining and manufacturing centers of Southwest Pennsylvania."

"This of course naturally creates more or less speculation as to why such conditions should be present in one section and not in another when what might be termed the root of the evil flourishes in both. I have about come to the conclusion that perhaps it is not so much a question of liquor as some other evils underlying the surface. Just what these are I am not at this time prepared to give expression to, but I have no doubt that some day the real cause will be discovered. However, this does not help us now; we have the evil before us and the question of the day is how to cope with it. There is such a thing as fighting fire with fire; such a thing as preventing destruction by destruction. Property has been lost at all great fires and sometimes at the time of great floods or of epidemics; palatial residences, great dams, magnificent bridges have been blown up with dynamite in order to prevent still greater destruction. Perhaps it would be best to adopt similar tactics in fighting the liquor evil. Don't be alarmed and think of leaving the room because I am advocating this somewhat anarchistic doctrine, I have no bombs concealed about my person and have no intention of throwing any but those figuratively here used. It is true that I want to shock you, but it will be mentally and not physically."

"There are several ways of putting this suggestion into effect. It is a well known fact that no man is in the liquor business from love or affection for the business itself; it is the money he is after, and that he is disposed to get regardless of anything else. Remove the enormous profit there is in the liquor traffic from distillery and brewery down to the lowest grogery, and there would be no incentive for its being so freely diversified. The State, county, or borough, as the case may be, could very easily put an end to this liquor evil if they would, let them simply remove the profit, or rather the enormous profit, and the trouble will all be over. Just as long as any good fellow, or rather imagined good fellow, can tondy around the politicians, and perhaps I might even go so far as to say attorneys and judges, and get a license which will bring all the way from one thousand to fifty thousand dollars a year, there will continue to be liquor galore all over this land."

"How can this evil be averted? Easily enough, let the State, county or borough pass laws or ordinances by which the profit to the distiller, wholesaler and vendor is limited to 6 per cent. on the capital invested, and all profits over and above that to go to the State, county or borough, as the case may be, to help right some of the wrongs the liquor men are eternally perpetrating. This is no pipe dream, it is already in practice. I did know exactly where, but cannot at this time call to mind the particular section, but one city in California has taken such steps, and another somewhere in one of the Southern States. The movement in the direction referred to as being taken up by a Southern city I am told is successful beyond all expectations; they have actually abandoned the use of their jail, as they no longer have any prisoners."

"If the State, county or borough is unwilling to take hold of the matter in the way just outlined, then let the coal mine operators and the coke manufacturers take hold of it themselves. They have just as much right, in fact more right, to have licenses and operate distilleries, breweries, hotels and saloons as the gutter snipe who gets it for no other reason than that he has done some villainously dirty piece of alleged political work, that is, he has rained up a lot of worse gutter snipes. If it were possible, then after self and voted them. I know that any action by the mine operator or coke manufacturer in the way of asking for or obtaining a license would be met with a storm of howls from one end of the State to the other, and this of itself is evidence that the whole thing is wrong. How could it be right to grant one man a license who has absolutely nothing at stake, not even the vestige of a character attached to his person, and refused to grant one to another man who has hundreds, perhaps thousands, of men to whom he gives employment and who, from self interest if for no other reason, is certainly concerned in their welfare."

"This is no new idea, either; it has been tried in a number of cases, one in particular that I know of personally where I was impossible to operate the plant profitably or safely as long as licenses were granted to political favorites. A company operating a certain mine at great expense bought out all the saloons in their vicinity and fitted out one up of their own and the result was that they not only successfully operated the plant but eliminated drunkenness almost entirely. I would not want to be connected with a barroom and should prefer not to have such an institution as any operation with which I am connected; and further, I do not believe it would be necessary for coal mine operators, coke manufacturers and others to long operate or run a bar room, for once the public saw the other side of the question thus so vividly exhibited to them by the mine operators, etc., the liquor question would be regulated forthwith. I think that all that remains to be done now is for the mining and coke interests to say something has to be done in the way of removing the present evils resulting from the war licenses are dispensed and handled or they will go into the liquor business themselves."

Mr. Kneibler referred to the present construction of the mining laws and the difficulty in which the mine manager and operator have in carrying it out. He said that in some cases, especially in petty matters there was too much law and in others not enough. The timber question was also taken up and discussed very fully. The speaker stated that great difficulty was being experienced in getting good sound timber for mining and that the conditions were becoming gradually worse.

He called attention to the fact that the United States has not a single training mine within its borders for the purpose of training young miners and fitting them for responsible positions. He said: "If some other State than Pennsylvania should be the first to take action it would be to the eternal shame of the greatest coal producing State in the world and the wielder of a twenty-million dollar power holder that is now writing messages of scorn for the taxpayers of a great State and death warrants is it were of political thieves, and will continue to do so for some time to come."

In conclusion Mr. Kneibler paid a touching tribute to the memory of William J. Morrison, who was killed in an accident at Marguerite mines.

CHAPTER III.

T WAS well agreed by the fashion of Bath that M. le Duc de Chateaurien was a person of sensibility and haut ton, that his retinue and equipage surpassed in elegance, that his person was exquisite, his manner engaging. In the company of gentlemen his case was slightly tinged with graciousness (his single equal in Bath being his grace of Winterset), but it was remarked that when he bowed over a lady's hand his air bespoke only a gay and tender reverence.

He was the idol of the dowagers within a week after his appearance. Matrons warmed to him. Young belles looked sweetly on him, while the gentlemen were won to admiration or envy. He was of prodigious wealth. Old Mr. Bickitt, who dared not, for his fame's sake, fail to have seen all things, had visited Chateaurien under the present duke's father and descended to the curious upon its grandeur. The young noble had one fault. He was so poor a gambler. He cared nothing for the hazards of a die or the turn of a card. Gayly admitting that he had been born with no spirit of adventure in him, he was sure, he declared, that he failed of much happiness by his lack of taste in such matters.

But he was not long wanting the occasion to prove his taste in the matter of handling a weapon. A certain led-captain, Rohrer by name, notorious among other things, for bearing a dexterous and blood-thirsty blade, came to Bath post haste one night and jostled heartily against him in the pump room on the following morning. M. de Chateaurien bowed and turned aside without offense, continuing a conversation with some gentlemen near by. Captain Rohrer jostled against him a second time. M. de Chateaurien looked him in the eye and apologized pleasantly for being so much in the way. Thereupon Rohrer procured an introduction to him and made some observations derogatory to the valor and virtue of the French.

There was current a curious piece of gossip of the French court: A prince of the blood royal, grandson of the late regent and second in the line of succession to the throne of France, had rebelled against the authority of Louis XV., who had commanded him to marry the Princess Henrietta, cousin to both of them. The princess was reported to be openly devoted to the cousin who refused to accept her hand at the bidding of the king, and, as rumor ran, the prince's caprice elected in preference the discipline of Vincennes, to which retirement the furious king had consigned him. The story was the staple gossip of all polite Europe, and Captain Rohrer, having in his mind a purpose to make use of it in leading up to a statement that should be general to the damage of all Frenchwomen and which a Frenchman might not pass over as he might a jog of the elbow, repeated it with garbled truths to make a scandal of a story which bore none on a plain relation.

He did not reach his deduction. M. de Chateaurien, breaking into his narrative, addressed him very quietly. "Monsieur," he said, "none but swine deny the nobleness of that good and gentle lady, Mlle. la Princesse de Bourbon-Conti. Every Frenchman knows that her cousin is a bad rebel and ingrate, who had only honor and respect for her, but was so willful he could not let even the king say, 'You shall marry here, you shall marry there.' My friends," the young man turned to the others, "may I ask you to close room in a circle for one moment? It is clearly shown that the Duke of Orleans is a scurvy fellow, but not"—he wheeled about and touched Captain Rohrer on the brow with the back of his gloved hand—"but not so scurvy as thou, thou swine of the gutter!"

Two hours later, with perfect ease, he ran Captain Rohrer through the left shoulder, after which he sent a basket of red roses to the Duke of Winterset. In a few days he had another captain to fight. This was a ruffling buck who had the astounding indiscretion to proclaim M. de Chateaurien an imposter. There was no Chateaurien, he swore. The Frenchman laughed in his face and, at twilight of the same day, pinked him carefully through the right shoulder. It was not that he could not put aside the insult to himself, he declared to Mr. Molyneux, his second, and the few witnesses, as he handed his wet sword to his lackey—one of his station could not be insulted by a doubt of that station—but he fought in the quarrel of his friend Winterset. This rascal had asserted that M. le Duc had introduced an imposter. Could he overlook the insult to a friend, one to whom he owed his kind reception in Bath? Then, bending over his fallen adversary, he whispered, "Naughty man, tell your master find some better quarrel for the next he sent against me."

The conduct of M. de Chateaurien was pronounced admirable. There was no surprise when the young foreigner fell naturally into the long train of followers of the beautiful Lady Mary Carlisle nor was there great astonishment that he should obtain marked favor in her eyes, shown so plainly that my Lord Townbrake, Sir Hugh Guilford and the rich Squire Bantison, all of whom had followed her through three seasons, swore with rage, and his grace of Winterset stalked from her aunt's house with black brows.

Meeting the duke there on the evening after his second encounter, de Chateaurien smiled upon him brilliantly. "It was badly done, oh, so badly!" he whispered. "Can you afford to have me strip of my mask by any but yourself? You, who introduce me? They will say there is some bad scandal that I could force you to be my godfather. You must get the courage yourself."

"I told you a rose had a short life," was the answer. "Oh, those roses! 'Tis too very greivous rizzion to gather each day a fresh one." He took a red bud from his breast for an instant and touched it to his lips.

"M. de Chateaurien!" It was Lady Mary's voice. She stood at a table where a vacant place had been left beside her. "M. de Chateaurien," rien, we have been waiting very long for you."

The duke saw the look she did not know she gave the Frenchman, and he lost countenance for a moment.

"We approach a climax, oh, monsieur?" said M. de Chateaurien.

CHAPTER IV.

T HERE fell a clear September night, when the moon was radiant over town and country, over cobbled streets and winding roads. From the fields the mists rose slowly, and the air was mild and fragrant, while distances were white and full of mystery. All of Bath that pretended to fashion or condition was present that evening at a fete at the house of a country gentleman of the neighborhood. When the stately junket was concluded it was the pleasure of M. de Chateaurien to form one of the escort of Lady Mary's carriage for the return. As they took the road Sir Hugh Guilford and Mr. Bantison, engaging in indistinct but vigorous remonstrance with Mr. Molyneux over some matter, fell fifty or more paces behind, where they continued to ride, keeping up their argument. Half a dozen other gallants rode in advance, ranting among themselves, or attended luxuriously upon Lady Mary's aunt on the other side of the coach, while the happy Frenchman was permitted to ride close to that adorable window which framed the fairest face in England.

He sang for her a little French song, a song of the voyager who dreamed of home. The lady, listening, looking up at the bright moon, felt a warm drop upon her cheek, and he saw the tears sparkling upon her lashes.

"Mademoiselle," he whispered then, "I, too, have been a wanderer, but my dream was not of France; no, I do not dream of that home, of that dear country. It is of a dearer country, a dream country—a country of gold and snow," he cried softly, looking at her white brow and the fair, lightly powdered hair above it. "Gold and snow and the blue sky of a lady's eyes!"

"I had thought the ladies of France were dark, sir."

"Cruel! It is that she will not understand! I have I speak of the ladies of France? No, no, no! It is of the fairest country—yes, 'tis a province of heaven, mademoiselle. Do I not renounce my allegiance to France? Oh, yes! I am subject—no, content to be slave—in the land of the blue sky, the gold and the snow."

"A very pretty figure," answered Lady Mary, her eyes downcast. "But does it not hint a notable experience in the making of such speeches?"

"Tormentress! No. It prove only the inspiration it is to know you."

"We English ladies hear plenty of the like, sir, and we even grow brilliant enough to detect the assurance that lies beneath the courtesies of our own gallants."

"Merri! I should believe so!" ejaculated M. de Chateaurien, but he smothered the words upon his lips.

Her eyes were not lifted. She went on: "We come, in time, to believe that true feeling comes faltering forth, not glibly; that smoothness betokened the adept in the art, rather than your true—your true!" She was herself faltering; more, blushing deeply and halting to a full stop in terror of a word. There was a silence.

"Your—true—lover," he said huskily. When he had said that word both trembled. She turned half away into the darkness of the coach.

"I know what make you to doubt me," he said, faltering himself, though it was not his art that prompted him. "They have told you the French do nothing always but make love, is it not so? Yes, you think I am like that. You think I am like that now!"

She made no sign.

"I suppose," he sighed, "I am unridable. I would have the snow not so cold—for just me."

She did not answer.

Secretary Taft Says Newspapers Made of Him Presidential Candidate.

LE MEN SEND GREETING

The Secretary Pays a Glowing Tribute to the Retired Senator From Wisconsin—Glad the University Welcomes Co-Eds.

Madison, Wis., June 11.—Secretary of War Taft addressed an audience of 5,000 persons in the university gymnasium. He was enthusiastically greeted. Included in the audience were all the members of the state supreme court, a large body of university students, many members of the legislature and prominent citizens of Madison. After mentioning that Madison was the home of the junior senator, Mr. La Follette, Secretary Taft said: "I would that John C. Spooner was here today that I might say in his presence as I now say in his absence, that the nation has sustained a severe loss by his retirement from public life. He was one of the most distinguished debaters and constitutional lawyers who has ever talked upon the floor of the senate, and he now withdraws that he may care a little for his family as a lawyer, after 10 years of distinguished service."

The secretary next said he was glad that women were welcome to the University of Wisconsin to get an education. Many people look forward to the woman to see if she will make a successful match or none at all. He said he was glad to think women could marry or not as they saw fit. This sentiment was greeted by applause.

The most valuable asset of the college course he said was the friendship that associations form. To demonstrate this he cited a cablegram which he received while in a sick bed in the Philippines and which his Yale friends were celebrating the 25th anniversary. The telegram read: "We love you, Bill and are with you in all that you do." (Signed) Yale '78." He said this was one of the greatest inspirations he had ever received.

Connellsville, Wis., June 11.—Secretary of War Taft passed through Connellsville en route to Madison. He was met at the depot here by 200 business men. At their request he made a brief speech. Secretary Taft said that he had been forced into his present position as a presidential candidate by the newspaper men and that he himself had picked out an other career.

POFF WANTED DEPOT

Butler Man Conducts Successful Argument With Gun and Ax

Butler, Pa., June 11.—Armed with shotguns and an ax William J. Poff his wife and daughter, held up a Pittsburgh and Butler trolley car at Wildwood and prevented the crew from proceeding until a special car with company officers arrived on the scene.

Poff had placed a barricade across the track and threatened to shoot anyone of the crew of 47 passengers who would dare try to remove it. He had been promised a depot when the company crossed his farm and got tired of the delay. Sunday he prepared for hostilities and during the night built a gate across the tracks. Poff was finally mollified and the car proceeded after an hour's delay. General Manager W. H. Pape held a conference with him and the depot will be built forthwith.

ORCHARD IS QUESTIONED

Effort to Show Counter Conspiracy on Part of Mine Owners

Boise Idaho June 11.—Into the cross examination of Harry Orchard counsel for William D. Haywood repeatedly threw the suggestion of a great counter conspiracy formulated and carried out by the enemies of the Western Federation of Miners and indicated a determination to construct their main line of defense on that field. They carried Orchard by slow steps through the minutest details from the drizzling of the independence, Col., station down to the attempt on the life of Fred Bradley and his family in San Francisco.

In addition to a series of particular attacks on the credibility of the witness and the general probability of his stories, and preparing the way for their own testimony in rebuttal the defense sought to show that Orchard has a mania for boasting of the commission of crimes non-existent except in his own mind, and that he is testifying under the control and suggestion of Detective McFarland.

New York June 11.—A speed of more than two miles a minute over Long Island roads was made by the car which Walter Christie will drive in the Grand Prix race in France next month. The trial was the last of several which have been made in the past few days. ## GET THE FIRST.

Inklingers of the B. & O. Win an Exciting Game from the Shops in Opening of City League.

The City League had an auspicious opening last evening when the B. & O. Clerks played the B. & O. Shops as was scheduled. The attendance was good all things considered and the enthusiasm a good bit better. The Clerks won by a score of 6 to 5. The game was clean and remarkably free from disputes.

Sheetz, for the Shops, pitched a splendid game but the hit and run tactics of the Clerks gave them a commanding lead from the start. Mason, for the Clerks, was a little wild, but struck out 11 opposing batters. The teams were well matched and if the other organizations can furnish as close a contest the race will be exciting. Owing to the weather the game was called at the end of the seventh inning it being dusk at that time. Following is the score:

JAPANESE WAR TALK.

Yellow Press Are Blamed for Stirring Up the Trouble.

DELAY IN SIGNING A TREATY

Secretary Root Thinks Is Irritation but Expresses Opinion That War Talk Will Simmer Down—Views the English Take.

Publishers Press Telegram

WASHINGTON, June 11.—In the opinion of the State Department the most serious consequence of the anti-American agitation in Japan is the inevitable delay caused by pending negotiations for conclusion of a new treaty by the two countries. There is also of course the possibility that continued reiteration of charges and counter charges may ultimately lead to an entanglement of the two peoples. For this reason Secretary Root deprecates the daily sensational publication of the yellow press of both countries. He holds that it is so largely a newspaper campaign. It is not disturbed however by the situation.

The elections in Japan take place next fall and Justice for the Japanese in America seems to have become one of the campaign cries of the minority. So long as the present administration remains in power the most friendly relations will continue to exist between the United States and Japan. To conciliate the Japanese the United States has offered to negotiate a new treaty to settle the immigration question modified San Francisco school rules placing Japanese on the same basis as other foreigners denied that there is any race feeling against the Japanese in the United States. opened its courts to the Japanese for the settlement and payment of damages to claimants and expressed regrets that there should be hoodlums in any American city. What the United States will not do is to apologize.

LONDON, June 11.—[Special]—The war talk now so common in the United States and Japan caused by friction resultant from the San Francisco incident is not regarded as of much importance in England where the general opinion is held that the sense of the Federal Government is well saved the situation created by a single State.

SEATTLE, June 11.—[Special]—General Baron Kuroki sailed today for the Orient after spending his last day in the United States in a round of receptions, luncheons and sightseeing expeditions. The Baron left expressing the kindest feelings for Uncle Sam and his people. He was delighted with his cordial reception and experiences and declared Japan has no desire to go to war with the United States. He stated the present troubles are due to a few dissatisfied agitators embracing the opportunity to make some noise.

Settled the Case

Mrs. Frederick Slavish of Nollie works was given a hearing last evening before Judge P. M. Butterworth of New Haven on a charge of disorderly conduct made by Charles Hilleck, also of Nollie works. The case was settled by the defendant paying the costs.

Justa Waive Extradition.

Cleveland, O., June 11.—Frank Just and Maria Dorsch who were arrested here several days ago at the request of the German government charging them with being responsible for the death of Justa wife in that country, waived extradition and agreed to return to Germany in case of officers to stand trial on the charge of murder. To couple has been in jail since their arrest and J. A. Lettenbauer, German consul at Cincinnati, came here and secured an agreement with them to waive legal technicalities.

NATHAN STRAUS, the head of one of the largest department stores of Greater New York, says: "That his success was due to the man at the other end of the bargain, and that no concern can live many years that does not try to give that man a good, honest bargain."

We believe this statement to be absolutely true. A firm cannot lie in its advertisements one time and tell the truth another and still command the confidence of the people. The foundation of success and permanence is in "reliability." Cross examine the "Daily Bulletin and you'll find every proposition to be founded on truth.
